[Text] Allan Boesak, president of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches and patron of South Africa's UDF, arrived in Maputo this morning on a brief visit at the invitation of the Ministry of Justice of our country. Allan Boesak was welcomed at the airport by Justice Minister Ossuman Ali Dauto, and Job Chambal, head of the department of religious affairs.

Speaking to newsmen at the airport, Allan Boesak expressed his satisfaction at being once again in Mozambique, whose people have much in common with the South African people. The UDF leader also spoke about the internal situation in South Africa, the quadripartite talks on the independence of Namibia and peace in Angola, and the obstacles created for the activities of progressive organizations in his country.

Commenting about the award of Eduardo Mondlane Order to Nelson Mandela, Allan Boesak described it as an honor for all South Africans fighting against apartheid.
