

MNR chiefs die

Herald 2/12/87

THE British Broadcasting Corporation reported last night that two leaders of the MNR bandits in Mozambique have been killed in a car accident in Malawi. The report, monitored in Harare last night, said the dead men were Joan Acaida, a former Mozambique ambassador to Portugal, and Jose Asveda da Costa. BBC sources said the two died while travelling to the Malawi capital, Lilongwe, after meeting MNR bandits inside Mozambique. — Herald Reporter.
