

• Air services between Maputo and Nelspruit, South Africa, could be established soon, according to the government-controlled Maputo daily Noticias. Only the issue of overflight rights in South Africa has still to be resolved following talks between Mozambican state-owned transport and civil aviation company Empresa Nacional de Transporte & Trabalho Aereo (TTA) and South African air transport company Metavia. Each company plans one flight a week, the paper adds.

NED 9/11/84