

Airlines seek new planes

ION 18/6/88

The re-equipment of the Mozambican airlines Linhas Aéreas de Moçambique and Transporte e Trabalho Aéreo is currently being planned, and a number of aircraft constructors are in competition for orders. Two LAM officials are due to visit the United States to attend a presentation of the Boeing range, while a delegation from Europe's Airbus Industrie was in Maputo in May. LAM is seeking to replace its long-haul DC-10 and two Boeing 737s used on domestic and regional flights. Meanwhile the California-based International Air Services Agency has expressed interest in supplying spares and training pilots.
