

Mozambique President's amnesty offer to 'armed bandits'

In his address to the nation, delivered at a New Year reception on 29th December and broadcast by Maputo on the same day, President Machel said to applause that he wanted to take the opportunity of announcing that armed bandits who surrendered with their weapons to the authorities would be forgiven and duly reintegrated into Mozambican society.

Copyright (c) 1984 The British Broadcasting Corporation