

One man was killed and at least 31 people wounded on Thursday when Mozambican anti-government rebels attacked a passenger train near Maputo, government officials said yesterday ... The attack took place near the small town of Marracuene, about 30km north of Maputo, officials said ... On Thursday, the Mozambican news agency, ADM, reported that 37 civilians had been killed in an attack 10 days ago on a convoy of trucks in the country's north-western province of Tete.

Citizen 5.5.84