

Rail sabotaged

MAPUTO. — The railway from Maputo to South Africa is out of operation following a derailment caused by sabotage on Thursday morning, it was announced here.

A goods train travelling from the South African border town of Komati-poort to Maputo hit a mine placed on the track 48 km from the border. It is presumed that bandits of the South African-backed Mozambique National Resistance were responsible. — Ziana-

ATM