

Fatalities from MNR and UNITA activities Two people had been murdered in Maputo's Matola suburb on the night of 29th May, the Pan-African agency reported; several of the gang of "South African-backed bandits" had been shot by a Mozambican army patrol. Three people had died recently in Zambia's Zambezi district after stepping on landmines believed to have been planted by UNITA rebels, the same agency reported on 30th May*.

5
JUN 1985