MAPUTO — Bandits of the South-African backed MNR have murdered three well-known Mozambican musicians, reports yesterday's edition of the daily paper Noticias.

Cassam Gulamhusein (better known as Biriba), Manuel Joao Manuel and Delisso were killed on Friday afternoon when bandits attacked their car on the road from the port city of Beira to Chimoio, capital of the central province of Manica.

The murders took place a few kilometres from Inchope, where the road from Maputo joins the Beira-Zimbabwe highway.

The three musicians were members of the group Munaze, based in Quelimane. — Ziana-AIM.
