

Zambian official reports MNR border attack: Zambian "sell-outs" (Text) Chadiza district governor Comrade (?Shapi Banda) has said that over a million kwacha is needed to repair buildings damaged by the South African-backed MNR bandits at Chadiza border post last month. In the attack, one Zambian was killed, 600 cattle stolen and nearly 100 people abducted. The customs and immigration office block and some houses (?were) damaged when the MNR bandits raided the district border post, looted the houses and abducted a number of officers with their families.

Comrade Banda charged that the bandits were finding it easy to enter Zambia because of some selfish Zambians who provide the enemy with information. He claimed some Zambians have been to Mozambique in search of precious stones, fish, [words indistinct] elephant tusks and accused them of being sell-outs to Zambia. Comrade Banda also said some Zambians living along the border with Mozambique had their fields in that country, making them easy targets for the enemy, since some of them (?were) attacked and abducted while in their fields across the border.
