

100 000 fall prey to MINR

Chr 880525

WASHINGTON — More than 100 000 people have fallen victim to the Mozambique National Resistance bandits during the last two years.

This figure is cited in the US Department of State special report drawn up on the basis of a poll in Mozambique.

As the numerous witnesses say, MINR bandits terrorise the local population, perpetrate atrocities and kill innocent children, old men and women. They force peasants to work as slaves for them at no pay — Ziana-APN.