Text of report:

There are reported to be more than 100 members of the African National Contress still in Mozambique after a Mozambican Government undertaking to expel six ANC activists at South Africa's request. Radio RSA's Lisbon correspondent, quoting diplomatic sources in Portugal, says, however, that the exact number is difficult to establish as some ANC members have acquired Mozambican citizenship. Our correspondent says a senior ANC official has claimed that the Mozambican Government will not close down the organisation's offices in Maputo and there are confirmed reports of ANC men in military barracks in the northern Mozambican towns of (?Inhambane) and Nampula.
