

Mozambique accused of violating Nkomati accords by accommodating ANC "terrorists" (Excerpts from report by anti-ZANU radio) Sources in Beira report that despite the vastly improved relationship between Pretoria and Maputo, over 200 ANC terrorists, in two separate groups, have arrived in Mozambique since the start of this year. These cadres were flown into Beira in Soviet-made Antelope transport aircraft, where they were met by members of Frelimo's secret police, known as Snasp. The ANC personnel were observed to be young men under the age of 25, and were assumed to be trained members of Umkhonto we Sizwe [ANC military wing]. . . It was clear, therefore, that Frelimo are in breach of the nature and spirit of the Nkomati accord, and thus are disrupting the potential for peace in our region. There has been no reaction to date from Pretoria, which had been doing its utmost to establish a climate of peaceful coexistence with its neighbours. . . It is believed that the ANC contingents were part of the armed forces being evacuated from Angola in accordance with the peace treaty negotiated by the South African, Cuban and Angolan governments. (Radio Truth in English 1730 gmt 30 Jun 89)
