

Maputo denial

The British Embassy in Maputo said yesterday it had no information to corroborate a claim by Mozambican rebels that their guerrillas had killed a British military instructor named Richard Thone in a weekend attack on an army base at Magude. It had no record of anyone named Thone and had received no first-hand report of any Briton being killed or injured. — AP.
